Excerpt: . . . 11 whether the plant can provide meat to the National School Lunch Program. USDA officials also told us that they are exploring the potential use of video surveillance. Over half of the inspectors at large plants told us that video would be useful. Our second key finding is that USDA faces difficulties in plan-ning for the resources to enforce humane handling. For example, in terms of staffing, USDA told us it plans to hire 24 inspectors to help its humane handling enforcement. While a positive step, we found that this hiring is being done without the benefit of an up-dated work force plan. The current 2007 plan does not address spe-cific work force needs to address HMSA. GAO reiterates a recommendation we made in 2004, that USDA periodically reassess whether its estimates accurately reflect the resources needed to enforce humane handling. Our third key finding is that, while USDA has various planning documents for humane handling activities, they do not clearly out-line goals,...
